

IBM i Access Client Solutions

Have you ever been frustrated with Client Access? Tired of waiting for iSeries Navigator to load? Or what about those annoying plug-ins you have to install? If you answered yes to any of those questions maybe you should take a look at IBM i Access Client Solutions.

IBM i Access Client Solutions is the newest member of the IBM i Access family. It is a Java based, platform independent interface that runs on most operating systems that support Java, including Linux, Mac and Windows.

IBM i Access Client Solutions Main Panel

- 5250 display and printer emulation
- 5250 Session Manager
- Multiple language support
- Data Transfer & Data Transfer integration with Excel & OpenOffice
- Simplified SSL
- Download & view spool files

- IBM i Virtual Control Panel for LAN & HMC consoles
- 5250 emulation for LAN & HMC consoles
- Consolidation of hardware management interface configurations, including ASMI, IVM and HMC.

Ease of deployment

The biggest highlight for this product is the ease at which it deploys. Have you ever wasted the biggest part of your day fighting with an install package only to have it fail at the end? Worried about what else the installation package changed on your PC? IBM i Access Client Solutions does not have an install package. Installing and updating is as simple as downloading and unpacking the zip archive. No more running around spending 30-40 minutes per machine updating your IBM i Access clients.

Flexibility

Another of the highlights is the flexibility in how it can be setup. You can extract the product locally to your machine to get comfortable with it. But what if you have a group of 20 users you want to use the product. You can also deploy the product from a network drive. This gives you one location to maintain for all those users when applying future updates. IBM i Access Client Solutions can also be executed from a USB key, which allows you to have your customized IBM i Access environment with you wherever you go.

IBM i Access Client Solutions is available to customers with an IBM i software maintenance agreement and can be downloaded from the IBM ESS website. Click on the link below for an example on how to download it.
